What's New from TSAB

Since our February 2023 Newsletter we have published:

The Adult K Executive Summary and Learning Briefing. Adult K received home visits from mental health services and adult social care. During these visits practitioners observed fire risks, including discarded cigarette ends on the floor, empty food boxes, dirty dishes and black rubbish bags. Adult K was involved in a non-fatal fire at their home.

The SAR looks at how services worked together to support Adult K and highlighted the following themes:

- ✓ Self-Neglect, hoarding and clutter
- ✓ Impact of Covid-19 and declining support
- ✓ Legal Literacy and Safeguarding; Mental Health Act (particularly Section 117 Aftercare), Care Act 2014 and Mental Capacity Act 2005
- ✓ Making Safeguarding Personal

Organisations are encouraged to read the Executive Summary Report and Learning Briefing (linked above) to consider and apply the learning to their own practice.

LEARNING BRIEFING | Safeguarding Adults Review Adult K

1 Background
Adult K was under the care of Mental Health and the Local Authority when a non-fatal fire occurred. The agencies had observed clutter in the home, including dirty dishes, soiled carpets, and discarded cigarette ends on the floor. Following the non-fatal fire, a safeguarding adult concern was raised.

2 Theme 1: Self-Neglect
Mental Health and Local Authority reported concerns regarding self-care. Concerns were also raised regarding the home, which had rubbish bags, cigarette ends, unclean dishes, and food boxes.

3 Theme 2: Declining Support
On multiple instances, Adult K was offered assistance with maintaining their home. However, they persistently declined the assistance, indicating they would handle the situation independently.

4 Theme 3: Legal Literacy
Adult K was eligible for Section 117 aftercare (Mental Health Act 1983, as amended in 2007) and was subject to Section 42 of the Safeguarding Act (Care Act 2014).

The Legal Framework:
The Care Act (2014):
• Section 9 – Assessment of an adult's care and support
• Section 11 – Refusal of assessment
• Section 42 – Enquiry by Local Authority

Following the review TSAB would like to remind everyone that if you're not sure how fire-safe your home is, it's OK to ask for help.

Spotlight on Trauma Informed Practice

A 'Spotlight on' Trauma Informed Practice Campaign was held during March 2023 in order to raise awareness and increase understanding. TSAB shared useful resources, learning briefings, videos and good practice examples across the week on social media as well as sharing a comprehensive resource pack with partners to share within their own organisations.

What is Trauma Informed Practice?

Trauma-Informed Practice aims to increase practitioners' awareness of how trauma can negatively impact on individuals and communities, and their ability to feel safe or develop trusting relationships with health and care services and their staff.

Trauma-Informed Practice acknowledges the need to see beyond an individual's presenting behaviours and to ask. 'What does this person need?' rather than 'What is wrong with this person?'

What does a Trauma Informed Service Look Like?

If a service says it is trauma-informed, this means all staff should follow principles such as:

- ✓ understanding how trauma can affect people, including how mental health problems can be reactions to trauma
- ✓ asking sensitively about past trauma, and offering appropriate support if this is disclosed
- ✓ being aware of the potential for mental health services to cause harm if delivered without trauma awareness
- ✓ understanding an individual's strengths and recognising what has helped them survive and cope
- ✓ being trustworthy, transparent and involving the individual in their care

Trauma Informed Champions Initiative

The campaign included a Trauma Informed Practice Briefing Session which was delivered by Amanda Chalmers - Trauma Lead for South Tees.

The trauma informed champion's initiative is the longevity of trauma informed practice within adult services throughout South Tees. The champions can shift culture from within, look at systems through a trauma lens and bring this way of working into their service by following the principles of trauma-informed care.

The aim of the champions programme is to equip a group of staff members with the attitude, behaviours and confidence to be able to work with service users and staff using a trauma informed approach. Through trauma informed care training and by having ongoing mentoring provided, they will understand how to see situations through a trauma lens. The champions will be trained to provide brief interventions and effective change techniques to clients who are identified as having symptoms of trauma and other restricting emotional, social and psychological issues.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed every minute of this training. I have had so many lightbulb moments where I have made sense of my own thoughts and feelings as well as thinking about how I can help the people I am currently supporting. I am looking forward to using these new techniques on a regular basis."

Trauma Informed Champions Initiative continued...

There are now 17 Trauma-Informed Champions within services across South Tees, they are enabling culture and system change from within. For more information on the Trauma Informed Champions initiative for South Tees contact: Amanda Chalmers at Amanda_Chalmers@middlesbrough.gov.uk

Good News Story

Cleveland Police has taken steps to ensure the deaf community can contact the force in a way that makes it more accessible.

British Sign Language (BSL) users can now use SignLive to contact Cleveland Police when it's not an emergency. It is to be used like the 101 non-emergency telephone number, to report crimes or incidents which have happened in the past, or for providing information to the police about issues affecting communities.

SignLive is a free service that will connect callers to a qualified online BSL interpreter. The interpreter will relay the conversation between the caller and Cleveland Police, helping them to report a crime or incident in an accessible way.
